

EMERGING SCIENTIFIC INVESTIGATORS GROUP

The UAB CFAR Emerging Scientific Investigators Group is a monthly workshop series for a small in-person cohort of peers aimed at providing support to develop into independent HIV investigators. We plan to provide information directed by the group, including the basics of grant writing, funding opportunities, how to navigate the NIH, refining your presentation skills, as well as creating a welcoming space for peer support and mentorship.

Who?

Early career investigators, post-doctoral fellows, trainees who are actively engaged in HIV research and/or grant writing, and no R-level funding (yet!)
