

TEACH DOM

Enhancer Teaching Series

PROGRAM OVERVIEW:

“TEACH DOM,” an offering of the DOM Faculty Development Program, is a longitudinal curriculum designed to enhance teaching skills for early career clinician educators. The curriculum will be delivered in a series of small group seminars from February to May 2025. The focus is on small group teaching, but some aspects will also apply to didactic teaching (lectures etc.).

TARGET AUDIENCE:

Early career clinician educators (Assistant Professors) involved in inpatient and/or outpatient teaching with learners, including fellows, residents, medical students, and allied health professionals.

PROGRAM GOAL:

Enhance Teaching Skills in small group clinical settings (clinic/hospital).

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES: (specifically, the seminars are designed to):

- Enhance participants' versatility as teachers
- Enhance their ability to analyze clinical teaching using an educational framework
- Provide a forum for collegial exchange about teaching challenges and best practices

PARTICIPANTS AND SELECTION CRITERIA:

- DOM Clinician Educator Faculty member who:
 - Hold a Primary appointment in DOM
 - Have served at least 2 years on UAB DOM Faculty
 - Have a rank of Assistant or Associate Professor
 - Have a Clinical/Teaching role that involves at least 20% time in small group teaching (two ward/consult months or 1 full day of clinic with learners)
 - Priority will be given to those who have not already participated in a formal Faculty Development program on Clinical Teaching (SFDP etc.)
 - Due to limited size of groups, selections will prioritize balanced participation across DOM divisions
 - This program cannot accommodate Fellows at this time
