

THE ROBERT LARNER, MD COLLEGE OF MEDICINE
AT THE UNIVERSITY OF VERMONT
DEPARTMENT OF MEDICINE
DIVISION OF PULMONARY AND CRITICAL CARE

Position Description

Title: Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor of Medicine (Tenure Pathway)

Location: Division of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine, Department of Medicine

Date Available: Immediately

Responsibilities: The Division of Pulmonary and Critical Care Medicine in the Department of Medicine at the University of Vermont Larner College of Medicine invites applications for a tenure track Assistant/Associate/Full Professor with an independent, primarily wet bench-based research program in the area of pulmonary biology. Research areas of particular interest include, but are not limited to, airway biology, asthma, sepsis and acute lung injury, lung immunity, pulmonary vascular biology, stem cell biology, or lung cancer.

The successful candidate will have a visionary research program that synergizes with existing research programs at the Larner College of Medicine. The faculty member will join a vibrant research community including basic and clinician scientists within the Larner College of Medicine, have opportunities to collaborate with individuals across the University of Vermont campus, and contribute to the research education of graduate students and postdoctoral scholars.

The faculty member's research program will be located in newly-constructed state-of-the-art research space within the Larner College of Medicine. Several core facilities are available at the University of Vermont (e.g., microscopy, flow cytometry & cell sorting, genomics/transcriptomics, proteomics, biostatistics, data science, small animal vivarium, and a BSL3 facility) to complement the faculty member's independent research program. Rank will be commensurate with experience (Associate Professor and above); the most competitive applicants will be those with an established independent research program. The University of Vermont offers a generous seed package. Faculty efforts are fully focused on research; teaching opportunities may be available within the Larner College of Medicine and the University of Vermont.

Qualifications: The ideal candidate will have an PhD, MD PhD, MD or equivalent doctoral degree. Appointment at the rank of Assistant Professor/Associate Professor/Professor (Tenure) will be commensurate with years of experience and accomplishments.

EOE/AA Statement:

The University of Vermont is especially interested in candidates who can contribute to inclusive excellence through their teaching, service, and scholarship. Our community embraces and advances the values of Our Common Ground: openness, respect, responsibility, integrity, innovation, and justice while upholding the highest standards of professionalism, driven by a passion for lifelong learning and improvement. Cultural humility, kindness, and respect form the foundations upon which the college strives to elevate professionalism in all its endeavors. Professionalism is demonstrated through integrity, accountability, compassion, altruism, and social responsibility.

Successful candidates will exhibit a strong commitment to the tenets of Our Common Ground and the principles of professionalism. Applicants are required to submit a separate statement detailing how they would enhance the impact of Our Common Ground values and professionalism, and advance inclusive excellence at LCOM and among the populations the college serves through teaching, service, and scholarship.

The University of Vermont is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action Employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, sexual orientation, gender identity, national origin, disability, protected veteran status, or any other category legally protected by federal or state law.

Application Process:

Applicants must apply online at: www.uvmjobs.com under Position No. 00026971.

Applications must include:

- CV
- Cover letter
- Contact information for three references
- Separate statement detailing how they would enhance the impact of Our Common Ground values and professionalism, and advance inclusive excellence at LCOM and among the populations the college serves through teaching, service, and scholarship.

Questions about this opportunity may be directed to: Matthew Poynter, PhD, Search Committee Chair, via email: Matthew.poynter@uvm.edu

Application deadline: Review of applications will begin immediately. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled. Employment is subject to a successful background check.