

Bryan Sisk, DNP, MPH, RN, NE-BC, CENP

Sisk serves as Senior Vice President and Chief Nursing Executive for Memorial Hermann Health System. In this role, he leads the strategic direction of the organization's nursing workforce, which is made up of more than 14,000 licensed registered nurses.

Dr. Sisk is a 20-year veteran of the U.S. Army. He has served in various leadership roles – ranging from Chief Nurse Officer, nurse advocacy and leadership development, preventive medicine and public health in military, government, for profit, and not for profit health systems.

He is a strong advocate for the nursing profession, works tirelessly to reduce barriers to health care as a career, and passionate about creating supportive environments that accelerate personal and professional growth. He championed the newly formed Memorial Hermann Institute for Nursing Excellence that leverages frontline multidisciplinary teams to reimagine how care is delivered to all patients, now and for generations to come.

In addition, Dr. Sisk is a member of the team that created the first-of-its-kind Health Education and Learning (HEAL) High School a partnership between Aldine Independent School District, Memorial Hermann and Bloomberg Philanthropy designed to offer robust academic programming, work-based learning, and early employment into pathways that provide a lifetime of growth with continuing education opportunities.

Dr. Sisk routinely speaks routinely on a wide range of topics and is an active mentor. He is a native Texan who loves sports, music and outdoor activities, lives in Houston with his wife of 35 years and their twin sons. His daughter is also a proud emergency department nurse in Central Texas.
